This house is located about 3/4 mile east of Chewsville on the north side of Md. Route 64, the Cavetown Pike. It is situated on an area of level ground near the edge of the highway and faces south.

The structure is a two-story, three-bay stone dwelling with a two-story, four-bay frame addition extending to the rear. The main portion of the house is constructed of coursed local fieldstone. There is no decorative masonry at the window or door openings.

Windows appear to be spaced evenly in the front and side elevations of the stone section. Modern single-pane sashes are held within narrow frames. Windows in the stone section are flanked by pairs of louvered shutters.

The main entrance is located in the center bay of the front elevation. Its simply trimmed opening appears to have had a transom at one time. A 20th century entrance porch is attached to the front elevation.

The slate roof extends beyond the end walls of the house. A gabled dormer with car, ed Victorian trim is centered on the south slope of the roof. Brick chimneys are located inside each gable end. The barge is finished with decorative trim attached at the eaves boxing.

The frame addition at the rear of the stone section is covered with composition siding and includes a double porch along part of its east elevation.

Local historians report that the house was built by Andrew Bachtel between 1843 and 1845.

Among the out buildings near the house is a one-story, two-bay log structure covered with horizontal board siding. It is said to have been the family dwelling before the stone structure was built.

The main house is in good to excellent condition and is located on a tract containing 50.23 acres, part of a land patent called "The Glenings," surveyed for Thomas Johnson in 1789. "The Gleanings" originally contained 1,209 acres.
